Leading Capital Procurement

Better Investment - Better Outcomes

Budget 2017 boasts by far the largest nominal investment in New Zealand infrastructure in history. Maximising the impact of this record spend and minimising project risk will be dependent upon effective public decision-making frameworks and procurement capability.

This interactive, one day forum will bring together client and supply side industry leaders to discuss, debate and agree on the next steps to lift performance in capital project procurement and investment in New Zealand.

The findings of the forum will be presented to the Minister for Infrastructure Hon Steven Joyce.

AECOM

Leading Capital Procurement Forum

One day, invitation only

Industry insights suggest there are significant opportunities for improving capital procurement in New Zealand. This one day invitation only forum will review initiatives underway and address the question - what more must be done to deliver better value outcomes?

Organised by Infrastructure New Zealand in partnership with AECOM, this forum will present the latest industry sentiments on the effectiveness of capital procurement in New Zealand. Existing Treasury and MBIE-led initiatives, international exemplars and opportunities to lift capability across the sector will be discussed.

The Forum has been developed for investment managers in central and local government, as well as private sector industry leaders. Forum findings will be developed into a recommendation to the Minister for Infrastructure, the Hon Steven Joyce, on how to drive better outcomes through improved procurement of public infrastructure.

This is your opportunity to influence the shape of that recommendation.
